IBIX is an Italian firm specialising in high specification portable blasters . Advanced design ensures efficient, superior quality surface treatment finishes even in inaccessible sites. Ibiz portable blasters use a wide range of media, and can be adjusted to precise pressures for any requirement. As a result, IBIX equipment is used to clean and preserve the world's most iconic and protected historic landmarks, as well as meeting demands for precision corrosion treatment ranging from luxury car manufacturers to nuclear power plants.

In addition, IBIX manufactures surface protection equipment. Specialised machines melt thermoplastic powders onto metal and concrete surfaces. This seals pipelines and concrete tanks, cool room floors and other fixed assets against water, rust, or damage from strong acids or salt sprays. Coatings last for many years longer than conventional surface treatments.

IBIX Australia imports IBIX blasting and surface finishing equipment.
